However this particular design does require some additional instructions besides the basics available in the above mentioned video...

1. When cutting out the inlay pieces that are smaller such as the eyes and teeth, use a thicker piece of wood and then re-saw the thickness of the cutouts down to 1/8" thick. This will help you avoid the cutout piece breaking loose from the tape and damaging your piece during cutout. This is the standard procedure we recommend for cutting out all small pieces.
2. The large face and mouth/nose cutouts (plate 3 and 4) should be cut between 3/16" and 1/4" to prevent tear out as you inlay on top of them. Use plate 10 to help create the pocket for the large plate 3 cutout
Caution: Be careful not to bottom out your bit into your inlay kit housing when trying to cut deeper into/through the wood.
